

Chapter 15 Tech Tips

In this lab, you will be using ArcGIS Online for creating two different Web apps. ArcGIS Online comes in two varieties – an organization version where your organization pays for ArcGIS Online access (and the many features that come with it), and a free version with less available features.

This lab uses the free version of ArcGIS Online. The organization version would require the students' Esri accounts to be linked to your organization's subscription version of ArcGIS Online (like what you had to do with using ArcGIS Pro in Chapters 5, 6, and 7), but that is not required for this chapter's lab.

What is required, however, is a free Esri Account so that the Web maps and apps can be saved and served to others via the cloud. The Esri Account can be created here:

<https://accounts.esri.com/>.

This lab was created using the (limited) features available through the free version of ArcGIS Online accessible via the Esri Account.
